What does Springfield tell us about Australian colonial life?

Your history course asks you to explore what life was like in Australia in colonial times – from 1788 to 1901. You need to look at events, individuals and groups who helped shape Australia into what it is today.

Here's a way of starting that investigation, by looking at one property that was started in 1827 and still exists today. It is called Springfield. It is located near Goulburn in New South Wales.

You can do this in three ways:

1 VIDEO TOUR – take a video tour of the property and the National Museum of Australia to see some of the exhibits from Springfield and find out what they tell us about colonial life in Australia.

2 DECISION-MAKER – play the interactive decision-maker to see if you would have been able to run a property like Springfield and help develop Australia.

3 MYSTERY OBJECTS GAME – play the game to see if you can work out what the 10 Springfield 'mystery objects' are.

PRICE $88.00 including GST
(Available as part of a subscription to www.AustralianHistoryMysteries.info)

eStudies

www.ryebuck.com.au/estudies/

We have decided to publish this educational resource, now in its 19th year, in e-magazine format to make it more accessible to your students in the digital age. We are proud to have produced more than 250 classroom units to date, which can be accessed at www.ryebuck.com.au/shop/studies-catalogue/

The new format enables your students to access video, interactive modules and research links on their own tablets and computers and thus make the learning experience richer and more interactive.
